CRUNCHED — A car driven by Augustus Ayers, 53, 356 Juhl Road, was crushed by a rolling semi-truck carrying liquid nitrogen 7:50 a.m. Friday on Route 23 near the DuPont Road intersection. But, miraculously, neither Ayers nor a passenger, John Yunker, 47, 536 N. Court St., suffered as much as a scratch. Truck driver John Branson, 49, Columbus, was not as lucky. He was treated at Berger Hospital for a sprained back and multiple contusions and abrasions. Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Bill Huffman, who is still investigating the crash, said both vehicles were southbound on Route 23 when the car changed lanes and struck the truck. Both vehicles skidded off the right side and the truck rolled on top of the car. Workmen were busy until about 4 p.m. trying to separate the vehicles.

Carter Staffers Get Geared Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Carter no longer expects the Democratic national convention to be the fight of his political life. But if it were, he'd be prepared.

More than 600 Carter staff members and volunteers have moved into the Americana hotel in midtown Manhattan and set up a headquarters for next week's convention. The Carter organization might be more suited for a presidential contender expecting to sweat over every delegate and every state delegation.

Carter had the nomination locked up weeks ago and really only has to worry about his choice of a vice presidential running mate.

Yet in his hotel headquarters, speech writers huddled, secretaries typed schedules, volunteers painted signs for a welcoming rally, telephones rang and the pace was slightly frantic and relaxed at the same time.

Carter staff aides wore color coded photo identification tags, each color denoting both importance and access to a different part of the headquarters. An orange tag was said to be good for admission to the candidate's floor.

Young volunteers fanned out across Manhattan on Friday distributing thousands of leaflets inviting New Yorkers to "Meet Jimmy Carter."

They taped posters showing the former Georgia governor's famous smile to the sides of trash cans and the walls of buildings. They painted their message on the blacktop of Manhattan streets.

One paraded outside the main door of the hotel wearing an Uncle Sam suit and carrying a "Spirit of '76" American flag.

The staff prepared for Carter's arrival and for his meeting today with Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., one of several senators being interviewed about the vice presidential slot on the ticket.

Swine Flu Accord Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Health, Education and Welfare Secretary David Mathews has offered to help remove a major obstacle to a national vaccination program by serving as a mediator between insurance firms and swine flu vaccine manufacturers worried about lawsuits.

Mathews told President Ford Friday that he would meet with insurance and pharmaceutical representatives on Tuesday to determine if an agreement can be reached.

Ford heard reports from health officials at the White House and then urged that the immunization program go forward.

Mathews and Dr. Theodore Cooper said that the inoculation project could begin in August, a few weeks later than planned. But they said the goal of inoculating the population by December could be met.

Fair Skies Widespread

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fair skies and seasonably warm weather were the rule over most of the nation today.

There were scattered showers and thundershowers from southern Texas along the Gulf Coast to Florida and north on the Atlantic Coast to North Carolina.

Thunderstorms also erupted over the Great Lakes and in Ohio. A few widely scattered thundershowers broke out of northern Arizona and along the Washington coast.

It was clear to partly cloudy over the rest of the nation, and most of the country experienced normal summer temperatures.

It was hot from the Great Basin into Colorado, in the central Plains and in the upper half of the Mississippi Valley. Temperatures were below normal due to shower activity through most of Texas.

Inroads Made By Ford In Reagan Strength

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Ronald Reagan's campaign leaders had predicted a clean sweep in Republican delegate selection here, but Reagan had to settle for five delegates to three for President Ford in the opening round.

A ninth delegate selected Friday at congressional district caucuses was uncommitted; 16 at-large delegates will be elected tonight at the state Republican convention.

Despite his less than spectacular showing here, and Ford's strong win in delegate elections Thursday in North Dakota, Reagan continued to predict a first-ballot victory for the Republican presidential nomination.

In Washington, meanwhile, Ford was making exactly the same prediction.

Reagan now stands at 984 delegates, 47 behind Ford's 1,031, according to an Associated Press count. The nomination requires 1,130 delegate votes. There are 171 uncommitted delegates and 71 still to be selected.

Reagan had won the six GOP delegates selected in earlier Colorado district caucuses. His chief spokesman here, Michael South, predicted before Friday's delegate selection that Reagan would sweep the state's 25 remaining delegates.

It did not work that way, but the five delegates he picked up Friday gave Reagan a solid 11-3 lead and a good chance to take most, if not all, the 16 at-large delegates.

In North Dakota on Thursday, Ford won 10-3, with five uncommitted delegates, also short of the 9-9 split Reagan had hoped for.

Reagan, meanwhile, was talking Friday about the future — a Reagan administration in Washington. He said there would be no place in that administration for Vice President Nelson Rockefeller.

Christians Continue Offensive

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Christians pounded the coastal town of Enfe again today, trying to complete the takeover of the northern province of Koura, where 1,500 persons have died in five days of savage fighting.

Enfe is reported to be the last Moslem-held town in the province as the Christians continue to push out of their enclave north of Beirut after throwing back a Moslem drive into the Christian heartland Monday.

The Moslems accused Syria of helping in the Christian assault. The leftist-controlled Beirut radio said Friday that Damascus added three motorized battalions to its forces in Lebanon. The radio said Syrian artillery was shelling the Moslem-held southern port of Sidon.

Beirut radio said the shelling caused many casualties and extensive damage, and said the American-owned refinery at the port was burning. The report said the artillery prevented firemen from getting near the refinery, owned by Mobil, Caltex and other American companies.

Palestinians and Moslem leftists attacked Christian positions in Beirut's port area and downtown banking district. But security forces said the attack was repulsed.

The battle continued Friday for Tal Zaatar, the Palestinian refugee camp in southeast Beirut which has been under heavy Christian assault for 17 days. Christian officers said the defenders only have one high building left under their control. They said if that building is taken, the camp could be overrun in 24 hours.

The Soviet Union on Friday indicated the 13,000 Syrian troops Lebanon should withdraw. In its strongest statement on the war so far, Moscow backed the Palestinians saying: "The involvement of Syrian military units in Lebanon has further aggravated the situation," the Soviets said.

The statement contradicted claims from Damascus that the Soviet Union was backing Syrian intervention in the 14-month Lebanese war, which has killed an estimated 32,000 persons.

The Syrians stepped in when the leftists appeared to be winning, and have been supporting the Christian side. However, there was speculation Friday that Damascus might be reversing its stand and trying to rein in the Christians now that they are on the offensive, in order to restore balance and get both sides to negotiate an end to the fighting.

Rhodes Vetoes Bill Ending Mechanic Lien

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has vetoed a bill that seeks to protect homeowners and home purchasers from liabilities that can be incurred under Ohio's so-called mechanics lien law.

The governor said Friday the legislation fails to accomplish its intended purpose.

At the same time, he said he will urge the 112th General Assembly to enact a similar bill that doesn't contain "the defects" of this year's legislation.

In his veto message, Rhodes noted the vetoed bill provides a method for the owner of residential real estate to convey his interest in the property free and clear of liens.

The owner would prepare and record a notice of intent to transfer real property free of liens unless they were filed within 15 days after the notice of intent is recorded.

"The purpose of this section is good; however, the result will create rather than solve problems for the homeowner," the governor said.

He said uncertainty would result if a homeowner filed his intention to transfer and changed his mind, and added that the effect would be that no mechanics liens such as those representing bills of unpaid contractors or subcontractors could ever be filed after the 15-day period.

"Therefore, many reputable contractors, material men, and other suppliers will provide their work and services on a cash basis only because of the possibility that if they are not paid, they would not have mechanics lien as a remedy. Such a result will create a hardship on many homeowners desiring to improve their homes," Rhodes said.

Lungren said Mrs. Nixon still has weakness and some loss of feeling in her left arm, left leg, and the left side of her face. He said her speech remains slurred and she can walk only with assistance.

Although the former First Lady is still partially paralyzed from the stroke, doctors say her blood pressure has returned to normal.

Former President Richard M. Nixon spoke to reporters after visiting his wife Friday and said he is optimistic about his wife's recovery.

"Because her spirit is good, she's going to see this thing through," he said. "She's going to beat it."

Nixon, looking tired and grim, shook hands with wellwishers as he left the hospital through the main lobby.

To reporters, he spoke of his wife's strength, saying she "has been through a great many difficult experiences over many years, and one characteristic she has is self-reliance. She's a fighter. She isn't giving up. That, combined with the excellent care she's been receiving from doctors, means she will have a full recovery."

Death Sentences Upheld In Angola

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Death sentences for one American and three British mercenaries have been upheld by Angolan President Agostinho Neto despite appeals by President Ford and Queen Elizabeth II, according to Portuguese government officials.

President Ford said Friday he was shocked by Neto's action and hoped the Angolan president would reconsider.

"The death sentence is unjustified by the facts presented at (the mercenaries' trial)...and unwarranted by international law," Ford said. "We will continue to use every available means in urging President Neto to reconsider his decision."

Queen Elizabeth II and other international figures appealed to Neto to commute the death sentences. The British Foreign Office had no immediate comment on Neto's decision and said they had received no reply to the queen's appeal.

Say Kerner Report Wrong

CINCINNATI (AP) — A new study of black rioting during the 1960s refutes the 1968 Kerner Commission report and suggests the commission's researchers exaggerated findings to stress the need for social reform.

Dr. Abraham Miller, associate professor of political science, said the Kerner report depicting black rioters in the 1960s as among the better educated and higher paid of urban blacks should be dismissed as inaccurate and misleading.

Miller, who headed another research team which used much of the same material, and more than that gathered by the Kerner researchers, reported that blacks who participated in the riots tended to be younger, less educated and from less stable homes than those who did not participate.

The Cincinnati team suggested that the educational and financial attainments of blacks who participated may have been exaggerated by researchers of that decade to stress the need for social reform.

"The creation of a mythology not only made the rioters appear to be something they were not, but hindered our understanding of the diversity among American blacks in the protest of social conditions," Miller said.

Veteran Mules Saved From Death

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — Twenty-one mules, veterans of the bicentennial wagon train, have been purchased for $200 each by a group concerned that the mules might end up as dog food.

The Women's Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals bought the animals before they could reach the auction block.

Robert Hudson, executive director of the society, said those were the only animals whose fate was in doubt. "We bought the mules to eliminate any possibility of these animals being slaughtered and used for dog food," said Hudson. "Also, we wanted to prevent their being used as novelty animals by people who have no knowledge how to care for them."

Many Pennsylvanians, including Gov. Milton Shapp, had expressed concern over the fate of the animals, who drew a line of covered wagons to Valley Forge for Fourth of July celebrations. There had been reports that dog food brokers would be at the auction.

"The American Bicentennial spirit was perfectly captured by cross-country trek Bicentennial Wagon Train," Shapp said in a telegram to the Marland C. France Stables in Doylestown, Pa., site of the auction. "(I) Urge your every precaution that these animals sold to buyers who will insure their lives are lived out with dignity, rather than be mere food for dogs."

Hire Murder Plot Foiled

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Sheriff's deputies say Realtor Marvin Rodgers, who also is a deputy Ashtabula County auditor, was arrested after he tried to hire a man to kill his wife, Nettie.

The 56-year-old Rodgers, was being held in County Jail under $50,000 bond on a charge of conspiring to kill his wife of 30 years, authorities reported.

Deputies said he was arrested Thursday after giving $50 to the man he is accused of trying to hire.

The man Rodgers tried to hire actually was an undercover deputy from Mahoning County, Capt. Murray Lewis of the sheriff's department reported. Lewis said Rodgers also gave the undercover man a map to locate his home in Saybrook Township and promised to pay a total of $500 for the job after he collected insurance money.

Rodgers, who has had a realty firm here for 25 years, was arrested as he watched his 10-year-old son play Little League baseball, Lewis said.

Thieves Drive Car Through Secured Door

Thieves used their vehicle to ram into and break down a heavily-blockaded door at Bob's One Stop, a bait and refreshment store located near Deer Creek State Park.

The incident occurred between 11:10 p.m. Thursday and 7:50 a.m. Friday according to owner Bob Bogard. The store is located on Route 207, about a half a mile south of the Pickaway-Fayette County line.

Deputy Sheriff Tim Hasselbring found evidence that the culprits attempted to kick in the south side door. However, it was secured with a 2 by 6 brace and one-eighth inch steel brackets with one-quarter inch bolts.

From the considerable damage and tracks in the wet yard, it appeared that the culprits rammed the door with their vehicle to gain entry.

Cigarette lighters, cigarettes, liquor, wine, beer, fishing equipment, and cash from fishing license revenue and a coin box were taken.

Deputies are searching for two men who cleared a Commercial Point home of its contents Friday afternoon.

Over $7,000 worth of merchandise was taken from the 46 Scioto St. home of Jacqueline McKinney.

A screen was ripped from the door and the inside door was opened by ripping the facing from the door frame.

Deputies are attempting to locate Robert McKinney, 57, Columbus, the victim's husband, and his brother, Lloyd, 54, Columbus for questioning.

Fund Probe Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five more Central States pension fund trustees are scheduled to be questioned during the next week by government investigators who interrogated Teamsters Union President Frank E. Fitzsimmons for two days about the huge fund.

Fitzsimmons' questioning at the Labor Department ended Thursday with Fitzsimmons, his lawyers and department officials all declining to comment.

The union chief's sworn statements were given in a windowless room under police guard. The other witnesses, including Teamsters vice president William Presser of Cleveland, are all under subpoena.

Government sources have said that investigators are interested in the way fund trustees handled loans. One such loan was for $40 million to expand the Dunes Hotel and Country Club in Las Vegas, Nev. It was recently canceled by the fund at the Labor Department's urging.

Fitzsimmons was accompanied by attorneys Charles Rhyne, a former American Bar Association president, and Seymour Glazer, a former assistant Watergate prosecutor. They refused to identify themselves, but they were recognized by a reporter.

Missing Records Hinder Tag Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Missing records from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles may hinder collection of a $69,027 shortage charged to a former deputy auto registrar.

In a copyrighted story Thursday, the Elyria Chronicle-Telegram said the shortage was charged by the bureau to Fred Gosney of Columbiana village for auto tags sold by him in 1974.

Gosney is the son of Don Gosney, an aide to Rep. Wayne L. Hays and county Democratic party chairman.

An examiner checking the Gosney account for state Auditor Thomas Ferguson confirms a shortage of about $50,000. But, the examiner said "the Gosney audit is now at a standstill because we cannot find records for about $20,000 worth of tags."

Ferguson, while neither confirming nor denying the exact amount, said there is a shortage, but, "the exact amount can't be determined until the audit is completed, and it's difficult to complete the audit until we have the missing records."

The $69,027 shortage for 1974 business is the second claimed by the BMV against Gosney. The first time, the bureau demanded $97,000 due for 1973 business at the agency. Gosney repaid that amount in December 1974.

The Gosney family operated a business known as Gosney Company Inc., which, the day the 1973 shortage was repaid, sold over 100 pieces of property in Columbiana County to Cravat Coal Co. of Cadiz for $300,000. The land sold was valued for tax purposes at $10,220, according to Columbiana County records.

Reports Filed

On Election Drive

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Campaign reports were filed this week by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and his Republican challenger in the Nov. 2 election, Richard G. Lugar.

The deadline for filing the reports with the secretary of state is Saturday. The reports are for May 25-June 30.

The Hartke Election Committee reported receipts of almost $19,500 and expenditures of about $24,000. Lugar collected more than $47,000 and spent $24,000.

Hartke's report shows he continued to draw heavy out-of-state and union support. Lugar had large amounts from medical interests.

Diamonds were first discovered near Murfreesboro, Ark., in 1906.

held business filed bankruptcy action in U.S. District Court in Cleveland last year.

Reached by phone at his home, Gosney said, "I assure you there isn't any shortage in my behalf. I know nothing about the records...they just came in and took them." Gosney also said he does not intend to repay any money "because there's no shortage."

The state auditor said he'll try to reconstruct what happened to the missing records adding, "The next move is to try to bring the audit to a successful conclusion—with or without the records." Ferguson said it is not uncommon to have records misfiled.

Gosney was employed at the New Philadelphia office of the state Department of Transportation at the time he was selling auto tags as a deputy auto registrar. The auditors office said holding the two positions was legal since a deputy auto registrar is essentially a private contractor and not a state employee.

Pension Span

Leaving out the obviously permanent branches, which agency of the United States government is assured of the longest life? Let the dove of peace descend and spread his wings forever over a fortunate world, and the Veterans Administration will still go on.

At least that's what the record indicates. The last pension check for the Revolutionary War was written in 1911, some 130 years after Cornwallis' surrender. Soldiers in the war were paid in scrip, which they had disposed of for a few cents on the dollar before Congress finally paid it off.

The last pension check for the War of 1812 was paid in 1946.

Incredible, but true. A teenager fighting in one of those wars would have reached the age of 150 or thereabouts by the cutoff date. A man still collecting his pension then presumably would have had to be a soldier before he was born.

The explanation is simple — the last checks didn't go to men, but to women. There is no law to prevent a 20-year-old woman from marrying a 90-year-old veteran and continuing to collect a widow's pension for 60 years.

So it would take more than permanent peace to bring about an early dissolution of the Veterans Administration. Theoretically, of course, Congress could change the scheme of things.

That might happen. But it is more likely that men will live to be 150.

Mrs. Carter Interviewed

PLAINS, GA., — "I fell like I've been in a long, long tunnel," says Rosalynn (Mrs. Jimmy) Carter with a sigh. But today she can see the lights of New York — of Madison Square Garden — at the other end. And she can see her husband there. That's nice. "I've missed him," she says softly.

For almost 15 months, Rosalynn (Rose-a-lin) has been stomping America for Jimmy, living out of a suitcase — "I used to carry two suitcases, but then I got smaller hair rollers" — shaking hands sometimes 18 hours a day, spreading her message: "Never has a candidate been nominated for President without bargaining and dealing. Now we have a chance to elect a man with no obligations to anyone." Only on weekends, sometimes, she saw that man, when they'd grasp a few hours together to unpack and repack, walk in the fields together with 8-year-old daughter, Amy. And the security guards.

"I don't remember ever not knowing Jimmy," she says. They grew up together in the little town of Plains. And she can't remember ever being away from him more than she has throughout their campaign for his nomination. Even when he was in the Navy, and at sea five days a week.

She's even missed arguing with him. Though Rosalynn always appears sweet and calm and composed, she and Jimmy "always have argued," she says. "I remember after the first argument sitting on the floor in front of the stove in the kitchen crying one day, shortly after we were married. I haven't any idea what we were fighting about, though." She thinks arguing is healthy. "It clears the air. It gets the tensions out." And then there's the making up. Real good.

Rosalynn has worked since she was 13 years old. "I came home from camp that summer, and Mother told me that Daddy had leukemia. I really loved my daddy, and I remember that as a very sad, very traumatic time. Jimmy's mother took care of him, gave him the injections he needed." (Jimmy's mother, Mrs. James Earl Carter — known in Plains as "Miss Lillian" — was a nurse.) "The night Daddy died she took me to the Carters' house. We had that kind of relationship."

At 13, Rosalynn was the oldest of four children. Her mother depended on her not only to take care of the younger ones but to help in a dressmaking business she set up in their home. Rosalynn also worked in a beauty salon. "It was a very hard time," she remembers. But it shaped her character. She values the work ethic, and knows it as the way to a meaningful life. "Our sons (Jack, Chip and Jeff, now grown and all successful family men) worked hard on the farm from the time they were tall enough to reach the back of a truck." Daughter Amy didn't come along till Rosalynn was 40, and "she's very special, she doesn't do the hard kind of work that the boys did." But Amy has her own sewing machine and, with her mother's help, makes simple clothes. And her money-making project is her lemonade stand in Plains. Unfortunately, the media from all over the country have dampened little Amy's enthusiasm for the life of a soft-drink entrepreneur.

"Photographers buy her lemonade with their cameras focused on her," Rosalynn says, smiling wistfully, "and she's started to hand the cups to them keeping her head way down, so they can't get her picture. I think it's a shame. Amy's always been so well-adjusted before. She was only 3 years old when Jimmy became governor of Georgia and we moved into the Governor's mansion — so she's certainly used to the attention of the press. But I think it's finally getting to her. She's beginning to be distressed because somebody's always waiting to ask her questions now and take her picture. A couple of weeks ago when we were going out to church, she said she'd slip out the back door and join us. I don't want her to get that attitude, but I can't blame her."

Rosalynn says that if Jimmy doesn't win the election, "I would have no regrets. We've all worked hard, all the Carters. I'd have more regrets if we hadn't worked and then lost the campaign. At least now we know we've done all we could and if we lose — well, we can go back to Plains with clear consciences. And we all love it here. It's just so peaceful, and this is our house and our friends, and there's a sense of stability and belonging that exists, for us, nowhere else."

And if they win, Rosalynn Carter will settle confidently in the White House. "I know if I hadn't been First Lady of Georgia for four years, the prospect would scare me to death," she says. "But I've had that experience, and I'm not afraid."

She has not yet seen the living quarters at the White House but, when asked if she and Jimmy would sleep in separate rooms, Rosalynn says, "Well, in the Governor's mansion there were two bedrooms for the Governor and his wife, and Amy had one of them. I suppose we'd have the same arrangement." They would attend a Baptist Church near the White House. She would travel a great deal around the country, listening to the people's needs, and reporting them back to Jimmy. "That is the way we have operated for years, we're sort of partners, and I think it would continue."

Rosalynn Carter genuinely believes her husband would make "a very fine President, with no political strings attached. His only obligation is to the people."

"He has his faults, I admit that," she says.

And they are? "Well, the worst one is that he gets up early in the morning, always cheerful and just ready to charge ahead. I am a very slow riser, and I find that just very hard to take." Rosalynn's tiny nose twitches in mock distaste. "But I don't suppose a fault like that is too bad for the country..."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Streeters are complaining about a malaise, which is a condition that exists in the stock market when nobody quite understands what's in store for the future.

About the only thing that market malaises have in common is that they are products of uncertainty, and that they persist until the uncertainty is removed.

While the current malaise seems to have begun with uncertainty about the economy, Wall Streeters of late seem to be assigning a bit more of the blame to political uncertainty, about who will inhabit the White House and Congress.

To lay the blame on the polls is a very save move, they being too occupied for the time being trying to protect themselves. But one becomes suspicious of such explanations as being too convenient.

When, for example, Jimmy Carter became almost a certainty for the Democratic nomination, you might have felt that uncertainty would have been reduced, since at least one of the candidates was known.

Not so; it increased the uncertainty, at least in the opinion of the portfolio strategy department of Goldman, Sachs & Co., which advised its customers:

"Since Mr. Carter increasingly is becoming a strong candidate in our view, investor uncertainty with regard to the 1977 outlook will increase."

The investment banking house argued that the combination of a Democratic president and Congress "greatly increases the risk of excessive stimulus to the economy..." Inflation and wage and price controls might follow, it said.

An analysis of this sort seems to ignore what a lot of Americans, investors included, are fully aware of — that the big deficits, inflation and price and wage controls of recent years have been mainly Republican.

When not blaming the politicians, a favorite explanation for the malaise seems to be the general uncertainty about the immediate future of prices. A lot of Americans, they say, are fearful of more inflation.

The third scapegoat is the Federal Reserve Board. Everyone on Wall Street eagerly awaits some signal about the money supply. Is it being tightened? Is it being loosened?

Until a definite direction can be determined, say the analysts, the market isn't likely to move very far.

Circleville ranked among the nation's hottest cities when the official temperature climbed to 106 degrees. The mark, two degrees hotter than July 9, was believed to be a record for July.

Drought and torrid temperatures took a heavy toll on early market sweet corn in Pickaway County, causing heavy damage to the canning crop.

Directors of the Circleville Pumpkin Show were ready to ask the county schools to participate in the parade.

Route 23 just north of Chillicothe was to be opened. More than two and a half miles of the road had been paved with brick, replacing the badly worn concrete surface.

Speaking Of Your Health

The reduction of tooth decay by the addition of calcium lactate to sugar-containing cereal and snack foods has been observed at the University of Rochester in New York.

Dr. Buddhi M. Shrestha has found that almost 50 per cent greater reduction of tooth cavities resulted with the use of this chemical in experimental animals.

Calcium lactate apparently does not alter the taste of the food. The research is continuing in human beings.

A new blood test to detect gonorrhea is being tried. Three teams of researchers are comparing the detection rate of this new blood test with the usual bacterial cultures.

The work is proceeding at the Indiana University Student Health Center, Houston, Texas and Seattle, Wash.

A new technique known as "thermodetect" is being used for the study of tumors, cysts and cancers of the breast.

The method is based on the heat that is produced by the tissues over the breast.

Thermal, or heat, studies offer invaluable additional information in the diagnosis of breast conditions.

Cameras can record in color characteristic patterns by which the interpreter can "read" the normalcy or the abnormality of the breast.

These patterns, in addition to the other tests that are available, can show the extent and the exact localization of problems that may exist in the breast.

The progress made in the early detection and treatment of cancer of the breast accounts for the remarkable statistics of recovery that are now being reported all over the world.

Alaska Vice Probe Brings Indictments

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A former federal prosecutor and eight other persons have been indicted in an alleged scheme to bring prostitution and gambling to workmen along the trans-Alaska pipeline.

The indictment returned Thursday in U.S. District Court here outlined an alleged conspiracy to set up a multimillion dollar sex and gambling racket with operations near several construction work camps at Valdez, the pipeline's southern terminus.

Among those indicted were Richard L. McVeigh of Anchorage — a former U.S. attorney and onetime state legislator in Alaska — and Alexander Miller of Fairbanks — an executive with Alaskan International Airlines, an ex-Democratic national committeeman and once a legislative assistant to former Alaska Gov. William A. Egan.

The indictment followed a lengthy investigation that began with reports of widespread corruption aimed at tapping the high wages being paid pipeline workers.

The seven-count indictment includes charges of conspiracy, using interstate facilities in the aid of racketeering and interstate transportation of women for the purpose of prostitution.

The San Francisco indictment said several meetings were held here as part of a plan to supply the pipeline workers with prostitutes from Northern California. The proposed venture was supposed to net the defendants from $80,000 a month to $1 million in six months, the indictment said.

An attorney for McVeigh and Miller, William Brockett of San Francisco, said Thursday, "We are going to enter pleas of not guilty because they are not guilty. We're looking forward to a jury trial."

Others named in the indictment were not available for comment.

Brockett said McVeigh, 43, had done nothing but help the proprietors of a Valdez bar called the Acres get a liquor license. "And two of the co-owners were undercover FBI agents," he said.

"Miller made an introduction but did nothing more," he said, declining to be specific.

Also indicted was Charles "The Blade" Tourine, 69, of Miami, also known as Charles White. Testimony before a U.S. Senate committee in 1973 described him as a Cosa Nostra associate since the mid-1940s and linked him with numbers gambling in the New York-New Jersey area.

The indictment said the alleged conspiracy began about January 1974 and continued to the present, and included plans to approach local law enforcement officers to arrange pay-offs to avoid interference with the operations.

During the two-year investigation two FBI agents from the San Francisco office infiltrated the group of alleged conspirators and met some of them in Las Vegas, Valdez, Anchorage and San Francisco, authorities said.

Childbirth Death Rate Increases

BRISTOL, Ind. (AP) — A sixth death in childbirth has been reported in a northern Indiana religious sect that scorns professional medical care.

Dr. F. W. Bigler, Elkhart County coroner, said Thursday the mother lost her baby during childbirth in June. A county police report from June 12 quoted Mary Greider as saying, "There was no life in the baby" born to Jan Miller when he emerged after a breach birth.

Dr. Bigler said, "From the report, I think there's a good possibility the baby could have been saved if the baby was under medical care. If they knew resuscitation, the baby could have been saved."

Rail Authority To Double Size

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Rail Transportation Authority plans to double its size this fiscal year.

The new director, Carl Freshour, said this week that he wants to add five additional employees to the present staff at salaries ranging from $7,500 for a receptionist to $15,500 for a deputy director.

The authority was established to oversee the expansion of rail service throughout Ohio.

It now has a three-member staff. The first director, Graeme J. MacKeown, quit earlier in the year amidst a controversy about his qualifications and the future of the agency.

The Pickaway County Junior Fair Talent Screening Contest will be held Wednesday, July 14, beginning at 6 p.m., at the 4-H and Grange Building on the fairgrounds. Since this is a Jr. Fair activity, it is open to all youth of the county not past their 21st birthday by January 1976.

This screening contest is the means we use to select the top ten acts to perform in front of the grandstand the first night of the fair. The Agricultural Society gives cash awards of $25, $15, $10, $5 and $3 for the top five acts at the fair.

Any youth who is interested in taking part in the screening should arrive at the 4-H and Grange Building before 8 p.m., on July 14. Contestants will be screened on a first come, first served basis.

Jim Fausnaugh and Barb Bolender will crown the 1976 Pickaway County Fair King and Queen on August 1 at the fairgrounds. As last year's King and Queen this will be their last function. The contest is held simultaneously with the Talent Contest, and is always one of the highlights of the fair.

The king and queen are selected on their participation in community activities, poise, appearance and their ability to express themselves before the group.

We hope that everyone will make a special effort to come to this event.

Insects Attack Vegetables

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

If you haven't checked your potatoes lately, better take another look. Surveys show that potato bugs are helping themselves. And, don't forget the eggplants. They're working on them, too.

Regardless of what you did earlier, like using a systemic insecticide, you can't depend on it for season-long control of the Colorado potato beetle. Systems generally lose their punch the last part of June and early July, says Richard Miller, Ohio State's Entomologist.

Other plants the pest feeds on are tomato, tobacco, pepper, ground cherry, thorn apple, Jimson weed, henbane, horse nettle, petunia, cabbage, thistle, mullein, and after these are exhausted, there must be others it will tackle, Miller says.

Homeowners plagued with the potato bug should use Sevin or Methoxychlor, a couple of insecticides easier for them to find in small packages. Be sure to read and follow directions on use.

Chances are you won't be bothered with corn borer in your backyard row of peppers, but just in case you are, here's some suggestions.

Sevin helps some, but Furadan seems to be more effective. Maybe you can find a small package at some of the garden centers or feed, seed and fertilizer stores.

All products are labeled as to the crops they can be used on, so be sure to read and follow all label directions. If you're not sure, ask the dealer when you purchase an insecticide.

We have to be careful what we mention for homeowners to use in their vegetables, fruits, turfgrasses, etc., because very often many of the recommended pesticides come in large containers for commercial use. This makes it tough for the homeowner who needs only a few ounces for his cause.

For example, Imidan is highly recommended in fruit orchards, but last year when the homeowner with only a few trees went looking for this product, he found it in 5-pound or larger packages. Since that would probably last the home orchardist 20 years or more, he needed something smaller.

Well, this year some of the stuff is being packaged in 1-pound containers so the homemaker can add it to his array of pest control supplies. At least we know it is available in 1-pound containers in Canton, Dayton, Cleveland, Tipp City, Cincinnati, Toledo, Painesville, Elyria, Mentor, and Youngstown. There may be others, so ask anyway.

Potato Leafhopper Is Alfalfa Pest

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The potato leafhopper is the most important leafhopper pest on alfalfa in Ohio. Both adults and nymphs (young) pierce the leaves and suck the plant sap. Plants become dwarfed and turn yellow.

POTATO LEAFHOPPER

Older plant leaves are characterized by various shades of red, pink, and purple. The hopperburn is recognized by a yellow-color "streaking" beginning at the mid-rib and extending to the leaf margin in a V-shape.

Adults are pale-green, wedge-shaped, winged insects approximately 1/2 inch long. Within a few days of mating, females deposit white eggs in the alfalfa stems and larger leaf veins. Six to nine days following, eggs hatch into nymphs which are initially white becoming pale-green as they develop through the five molts. Egg to adulthood requires about 3 weeks.

These leafhoppers migrate into Ohio usually about the time the first hay crop is being harvested. Consequently, infestations frequently build up on second and subsequent cuttings of alfalfa.

Severely injured alfalfa may winter kill, permitting weeds and grass to take over the planting. According to the USDA there is less protein and vitamin A in leafhopper damaged alfalfa.

The use of an insect sweep net aids in predicting damaging infestations. One leafhopper per net sweep justifies an insecticide application to prevent additional leafhopper build-up and alfalfa damage. I have a sweep net available for farmers to use.

Sprays readily control leafhoppers. However, treatments should be considered preventive rather than a cure. Therefore, treat prior to yellow color symptoms, if possible. Spray applications should be made to the second or subsequent cuttings of alfalfa. Best results are obtained when new growth is 4-6 inches tall.

Methoxychlor, malathion and cygon are all effective for controlling leafhopper infestations in alfalfa. Be sure to follow label recommendations.

New Bean Drying Tried

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — A new soybean drying method promises to cut down on overdried, cracked beans and those failing to germinate.

Dr. M.A. Sabbah, research associate at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, has found that by periodically reversing the air flow in an experimental batch bin dryer he was able to achieve more uniform drying throughout the bin.

Conventional methods of drying leave beans closest to the air source overdried while those in the interior of the bin are still too wet at the end of the drying process.

Sabbah, an agricultural engineer on leave from the University of Alexandria in Egypt, found the best time interval for reversing the air flow was every three hours. He used Beeson variety soybeans for his testing and said his findings on optimum conditions might vary according to the bean variety and moisture content.

His new drying method was reviewed recently at the American Association of Agricultural Engineers annual meeting at the University of Nebraska.

become widespread on oats in Ohio during the past 3 to 4 weeks.

Barley yellow dwarf, caused by a virus, was recognized as a serious disease of oats about 25 years ago,
Wayne Ellett, Extension Plant
Pathologist at The Ohio State University says. He says barley yellow dwarf (BYD) is present in Ohio every year but has been more prevalent and serious this year than any year since 1959.

The disease appears first as yellow-green blotches on the older leaves.
This is followed by a more complete discoloration. Leaves of some diseased plants often have a reddish cast, but there is usually a range from yellow through orange to red and purple, Ellett says.

Stunting is a conspicuous symptom of the disease on all oats. Extent of stunting of a susceptible variety depends on the age of the plants when inoculated. If attacked in the seedling stage, plants may be severely stunted.
Suppressed heading and blasting or sterility are results of the disease.
Many of the flowers emerge from the root bleached and white, especially the basal flowers of the oat panicle, Ellett says.

The virus that causes BYD of oats is transmitted to the plants only through the feeding of aphids. There are several known virus strains and several species of aphids carry and transmit the virus strains. Symptoms appear in 1 to 3 weeks following aphid feeding. A number of grasses, cultivated and wild, are hosts of the virus, but in Ohio, the virus is serious only on oats.

The most effective control is the use of resistant varieties, says Ellett.
However, none of the recommended varieties are immune, he says, but some have high resistance. Otee has the best resistance to BYD of any of the Ohio recommended varieties.
Clinton 60 is most susceptible. Since the virus is neither seed-borne nor soil-borne, cultural practices are inadequate in controlling the disease.

Symptoms similar to BYD disease may be caused by other diseases or environmental factors. One similar disease is caused by the oat cyst nematode. This one is not known to occur in Ohio, Ellett says. It attacks the roots of host plants, restricting the uptake of water and nutrients. Poor growth in several spots in a field is usually the first symptom. Leaf tips of heavily attacked young oat plants may turn red or purple. As the infestation advances, stunted growth, wilting, poor root development and early plant death result.

Phone Rate Hike To Take 1 Month

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will file its new tariff listing with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio today and included in that filing will be a reduction in the planned $3 increase in residential unlimited service.

A PUCO spokesman said Thursday after the commission granted the company a $200 million rate increase that it probably would take Bell two weeks or more to file the new tariffs.

An Ohio Bell spokesman said today that the company is acting as quickly as it is because of the 20 months it took the PUCO to act on the latest increase.
"We've got to get these new rates in effect as quickly as possible," he said.

Since the telephone company is filing its new tariff listing so quickly, the PUCO estimate that the rates would not become effective for two months may be cut by half or more, which means telephone bills could be effected as early as August.

The spokesman also discounted reports that the company already is planning to file another rate increase application with the PUCO within the year.

"What Mr. Hugel (Ohio Bell President Charles E.) was saying was that if inflation continues we certainly will need another increase. Should it drop back to the levels of the 1960s, we won't. We have to live with latest increase for a while to determine its effect. No one has set any timetable for making a new increase application," the spokesman said.

The new tariff listing filed today will increase home telephone service by $2.70, not $3 as Bell originally wanted.
Business service for the newly instituted statewide measured service also will be less than originally planned. The increase will be down by 35 cents to $3.50. That service in Columbus, for example, will now cost $26.10 for the first 80 calls and nine cents for each additional in a month.

Bell will be offering a new service for residential customers under which 30 calls a month may be purchased for a flat fee 50 cents less than the pre-increase cost for unlimited service. That would be $7.50 in Columbus, for example. Calls over the 30-a-month limit would cost nine cents each, but the PUCO estimates 68 calls that could be made at a cost less than that for unlimited service under the new rates.

GI Benefit Cutback Bill Ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is nearing passage of legislation halting most advance payments to veterans attending school under the GI bill. It is an effort to halt overpayments that have totaled more than $800 million in the past year.

The proposal, which would not take effect until next year, is designed to eliminate all advance payments except in hardship cases.

With 11 months of the past fiscal year tabulated, overpayments in the program totaled $813 million, nearly double the $446 million of the year before. Part of the increase was attributed by Veterans Administration officials to publicity that brought to light numerous unknown over-payments.

At this point, $410 million is owed the government, compared with $60 million uncollected in 1973, according to VA officials.

The overpayments result from veterans dropping out of school or reducing their study load without notifying the VA to cease or reduce payments. The VA says it is recovering 76 per cent of all over-payments.

Congress voted in 1972 to pay GI Bill students at the start of each month and to give advance payments at the start of each school year to ease the problems veterans faced at enrollment time.

The legislation to halt the advance payments is one paragraph tucked away in an appropriations authorization bill for the VA and other agencies. The bill includes a $60 million reduction in the VA budget.

Retail Sales Rise During Past Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Retail sales in the state rose five per cent over a year but dropped five per cent from the previous month after the register totals were counted in May.

The Center for Business and Economic Research at Ohio State University released the figures Thursday.

For the first five months of the year,
sales by retailers increased 12 per cent over a similar period the year before.

Motor vehicle dealers experienced the strongest surge of sales, 38 per cent, with the related automotive supply stores at a 29 per cent increase for year-to-year comparisons. Thirteen of 25 kinds of businesses checked declined over the year, but fuel dealers, state liquor stores and men's clothing stores experienced lower sales in the first five months of 1976.
Sales are checked in 11 cities in Ohio.

Logan Elm FFA Meeting Scheduled

The Logan Elm FFA Chapter will hold its next meeting 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Vo Ag building. The meeting will be followed by refreshments and a

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Have Motherly Talk Before It's Too Late

DEAR ABBY: We have a live-in girl, age 21, who helps with the housework and is wonderful with our three children. (I'll call her "Nancy.") Nancy was a farm girl who came to use from a home for unwed mothers after having had an illegitimate child, which she gave up for adoption.

Nancy is sweet and fun-loving, but she's not too bright in the ways of the world. Recently she met a young man at church with whom she's been spending a lot of time. Yesterday she asked for the weekend off to go fishing with him.

I know Nancy is of age, but I worry about her. My husband says I should have a motherly talk with her, send her to my doctor and have him put her on the Pill. She's not a tramp, Abby, but I don't want her to get pregnant again if she is going all the way with this fellow, and she probably is. She's a Catholic and doesn't believe in abortion.

Even though she's 21, I feel responsible for her. Am I overstepping my rights?

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: No. Have that talk with her and offer to send her to your doctor for whatever information or prescriptions she wants. If Nancy is sexually active, let's hope she'll agree to some form of birth control that is compatible with her religious beliefs.

DEAR ABBY: When addressing a letter to a female, is it proper to use the title "Ms." only when the marital status of the woman is unknown? Or should one use "Ms." to address ALL women, regardless of their marital status?

We are having a heated debate in this office over that question.

SIGN ME "MS."

DEAR MS.: Who's to say what's "proper"? If I know that my correspondent is married, I use
"Mrs." If I know she's single, I use
"Miss." If her marital status is in question, I use "Ms."

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have both spent a lot of money on dentists, not to mention the time we have spent in the dentist chair, so we are trying to instill good dental care habits in our children.

Our problem is HIS parents. I have told them countless times to PLEASE refrain from giving our children candy and other sweets, but they slip them candy and cookies when our backs are turned.

I don't know how to handle this problem, Abby. Last Easter they gave the children Easter baskets filled with jelly beans, and we couldn't very well

ask the children to throw them out.
Short of not allowing his parents to see their only grandchildren, what's the solution?

LOSING PATIENTS

DEAR LOSING: There must be something about the way you've asked the grandparents to refrain that lacks conviction. Try again. And this time let them know that you mean business.
They are out of line on two counts;
ignoring your requests and encouraging the children to disobey their parents.

LIBERTY BELL — John Ammer, 141 Pleasant St., holds a replica of the Liberty Bell he has made from white pine. Ammer researched the history of the bell and built it to scale. He discovered that it was originally ordered in 1701 by the province of Pennsylvania to commemorate its 50th anniversary. It was made in England and did not arrive in Philadelphia until half a century later in 1752. Cracked in testing it was immediately recast by two Philadelphia mechanics, Pass and Stow and was hung in 1753. It was found defective in tone and was again recast. The inscription from the bible was retained in each casting: "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." The bell was cracked on July 8, 1835 while being tolled for funeral of Chief Justice Marshall of the United States Supreme Court.

ORDINANCE NO. 85-71 AS AMENDED BY ORDINANCE NO. 10-73

BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio:

SECTION 1. That Section eight of Ordinance No. 10-73 be amended to read as follows:

Rates and Service Required — when this license takes effect, the licensee shall have authority to charge and collect the schedule of installation charges and rates contained herein. A rate charge by the licensee in excess of those set forth herein shall be cause for termination of the license.

The scheduled attachment fees shall include that material and labor necessary to make a normal-type connection from the licensee's lines to the subscriber's receiver. The charge for other than normal-type connections, such as but not limited to special and concealed outlets and buried lines, shall be such as agreed upon by the subscriber and the licensee. There shall be no charge for disconnections. The maximum rates shall be as follows:

(a) Charges for initial attachment for each outlet: ten dollars ($10.00).
(b) Monthly charges for domestic service for the first outlet in a single family residence: seven dollars and fifty cents ($7.50); for each additional outlet to the same family residence, for the immediate family on the same premises: two dollars ($2.00).
(c) Monthly charges for other than domestic service, such as, but not limited to, hotels, motels, hospitals, restaurants, and taverns, for the first outlet: Seven dollars and fifty cents ($7.50); for each additional outlet for same non-domestic subscriber on the same premises: two dollars ($2.00).

All fees and charges above mentioned are exclusive of any tax or taxes whatsoever assessed or assessable against the scheduled installations or services.

Subscribers shall operate only one receiver at a time from each outlet installed by the licensee, and shall refrain from tampering with the installation in any way. The licensee shall have the right to discontinue service to any subscriber tampering with the installation or any related equipment or attempting in any way to use the licensee's service except as intended by the licensee. The subscriber found violating these conditions shall be entitled to any rebate or other considerations by the licensee.

Subscribers to the service shall not be required to assure the licensee that they will subscribe to the licensee's service for any specified length of time.

The licensee may at any time make its charges less than the maximum rate herein set forth without being liable to rebate any charges that have accrued, provided, however, that should the charge be lowered, that they shall be uniform to all subscribers as a class.

The licensee may make attachments for their services in any part of the City of Circleville, Ohio, this license not being limited to any particular part or parts of the City. However, the licensee shall not be compelled to extend its facilities to serve any particular prospective subscribers, it is believed that the prospective subscriber profits will sufficiently regulate the licensee in this regard. However, the licensee shall be compelled to inform the Mayor or other duly authorized city official(s) of the reason or reasons for the licensee making its service available in particular sections of the City of Circleville while the licensee's services are not available in other sections of the City. In the event that the reason or reasons are not sufficient or proper, in the opinion of the Mayor or other duly authorized city official(s) the licensee shall make such installation or installations within thirty (30) days after written demand has been made upon them.

Shift Made In Viking Orbital Path

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Viking 1, in a holding pattern over Mars and awaiting clearance to land, has headed for the "Western Addition," where scientists hope a smooth landing strip can finally be found.

So that the orbiting spacecraft can photograph the still uncharted region, Viking's rocket motor was fired briefly Thursday evening to shift its orbit westward.

The "Western Addition," a region on Mars' surface not far from the Northwest site that now appears too hazardous for a landing, may be Viking's touchdown target. Radar data shows the new area to be flat and smooth. If photographs taken tonight and Sunday agree, a landing could be made there July 22.

The Western Addition is known to scientists only from pictures taken in 1971 by Mariner 9. It has yet to be studied by the cameras of Viking 1, which will show the area in much more detail.

Next Tuesday, project officials will decide whether to go for a landing in the western area July 20 or head back to the Northwest site and put down on July 22.

After the Western Addition is photographed, the next step will be to find an oval area about 150 miles by 60 miles at which to aim the Viking lander. The lander flies by automatic pilot — it is too far away to be directly controlled from earth — and cannot be more accurately aimed than that.

Viking had been scheduled to put down on July 4, but the landing had to be postponed while a suitable site was found.

Man Falls From Car

A Circleville man, who fell from a moving vehicle when the door of the car flew open, was treated at Berger Hospital's emergency room for multiple injuries.

Twenty-year-old Larry Scott, 345 Brown St., was treated at the hospital for abrasions and contusions to his head, back, arms, and chest. He was later released.

John C. Smith, 20, 444 E. Main St., told Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal that he was driving on the Canal Road, three-tenths of a mile north of the Route 104 intersection, when the 11:30 p.m. Friday incident occurred.

Scott, the passenger, apparently fell to the pavement when the door of the car flew open.

Smith drove Scott to the headquarters of the Circleville Emergency Medical Service, and the EMT took him to the hospital.

Mischief Cases Heard

Among the cases completed last week in Pickaway County Juvenile Court were charges of criminal mischief which had been filed against several Circleville boys after they had been caught tampering with a stop sign.

Four 15-year-olds and a 17-year-old were all charged with the criminal mischief offense and were placed on one year probation. The court also ordered each of the boys to complete 50 hours of community work and suspended their driver's licenses for 30 days. One of the 15-year-olds was also charged with violation of probation.

In other action during the week, Judge Guy G. Cline dismissed a case charging an 18-year-old Route 1, Laurelville boy with running away. Three other cases were terminated with the Pickaway County children's Services, one case was dismissed after the youth had served his probation, and one child was released from probation. One case was transferred to Jackson County and four were transferred to Franklin County, the home counties of the defendants.

For the month of June, the court filed 78 new cases and finished 57 cases. On the first day of the month, the court had 81 pending cases and had 102 pending cases on the last day of June.

Included in the finished cases for the month were 22 delinquency, nine unruly, three dependant-neglected, 12 traffic and eight adult. The court also granted consent for three minor couples to marry.

Judge Cline placed seven boys and one girl on probation during June.

Reds Take Air From Pirates

CINCINNATI (AP) — George Foster says baseball is like show biz.

"The fans pay the money and want to be entertained. We're just actors out there," said the Cincinnati slugger Friday night after the Reds opened their largest lead of the season with a doubleheader sweep of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Foster lacked no flair for the dramatic, delivering a two-out, two-run single in the 10th inning to give the Reds a come-from-behind 12-11 victory in the opener.

Act Two belonged to Fred Norman, the greybread of the Reds pitching staff. The 33-year-old lefthander scattered nine hits to extend the Reds season-high winning streak to seven games by taking the nightcap 2-1.

The second largest regular season crowd in Cincinnati history—a throng of 53,328—turned out to watch the Reds keep even with their 1975 pace that produced a club record 108 victories.

"You got a glimpse of the Reds of the past," said Foster after the team rallied three times in the opener. "We're getting it together."

The sweep powered the Reds a full seven games in front of second place Los Angeles in the National League West.

"The Dodgers have to be thinking a little more now," said Ken Griffey, who supplied the game-winning hit in the nightcap, a run scoring single in the seventh.

The Reds tested their Saturday mastery in today's nationally televised game. Cincinnati, 22-3 on Saturdays last season, are 11-2 this year. Jack Billingham, 6-6, faced John Candelaria, 7-4, in the 2:15 p.m. game.

Cincinnati forged back from deficits of 3-0, 9-8 and 11-9 in the opener, finally winning by staging a three-run rally with two out.

Pinch hitter Bob Bailey singled to light the fuse and Pirates relievers Kent Tekulve and Larry Demery followed with three straight walks to force in a run. Foster then finished with a bases-loaded single off Rick Langford.

"When I'm swinging the bat good it really doesn't matter who is out there," said Foster, the National League's RBI leader with 71.

Griffey's game-winning single in the nightcap ruined a bulldog-tough performance by losing pitcher Doc Medich, 5-7.

"Right now things are just going our way," said Griffey. "We've got everybody back in the lineup and we are taking advantage of every little thing."

Doug Flynn keyed both Cincinnati rallies with singled to open the fifth and seventh, scoring both times. Norman, now 7-2 for the season and 29-7 lifetime at Riverfront, moved him into scoring position twice with sacrifice bunts.

No-hit Larry Dierker didn't make any mistakes Friday night. Catcher Ed Herrmann wouldn't let him.

The result was the first nohitter of the season, a four-walk 6-0 triumph for Dierker and the Houston Astros over the Montreal Expos.

"I caught Joe Horlen's no-hitter in 1967," Herrmann recalled. "I also lost two no-hitters with two out in the ninth. In most of those games I called curve balls which were mistakes, and I made sure I didn't do that tonight."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds swept a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates 12-11 in 10 innings and 2-1, the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3, the Philadelphia Phillies nipped the San Diego Padres 4-3, the Atlanta Braves downed the New York Mets 5-3 and the Chicago Cubs turned back the San Francisco Giants 5-3.

Dierker had flirted with a nohitter in the past.

"I've come close before," he said. "I had a perfect game against the Mets through eight innings but lost the game 1-0. In Atlanta, I lost a no-hitter with two out in the ninth and ended up without a decision."

Kansas City Edges Detroit, 1-0

Mark Fidrych went into his act again at Tiger Stadium. He talked to baseballs, smoothed down the mound and slapped backs all over the place.

The crowd loved it—everything, that is, except the finale.

The Detroit Tiger pitcher known as "The Bird" for his eccentric behavior usually wins. Friday night, he lost a 1-0 pitching duel to Kansas City's Dennis Leonard.

Spurred by an audience that provided a World Series aura to crusty Tiger Stadium, Leonard struck out eight batters, including five in a row at one point, and improved his record to 9-3.

In the other American League games, the Minnesota Twins beat the Boston Red Sox 8-6; the New York Yankees edged the Chicago White Sox 2-1; the Milwaukee Brewers whipped the Texas Rangers 7-2; the Oakland A's nipped the Cleveland Indians 2-1 and the Baltimore Orioles beat the California Angels 4-3.

Leonard did not allow a man past second base and did not issue a walk. The Royals scored in the fourth inning when George Brett singled, moved to third on a single by John Mayberry and came home on Hal McRae's base hit.

The loss ended Fidrych's string of consecutive victories at eight, dropping his season's record to 9-2.

Twins 8, Red Sox 6

Butch Wynegar and Lyman Bostock each knocked in two runs and Rod Carew stole twice and scored three runs as Minnesota outlasted Boston. The game at Fenway Park was played only three hours after the death of Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey. The long-time owner of the Boston club died at 4:20 p.m. at New England Baptist Hospital after a battle with leukemia.

One of his final wishes was that the game be played, according to a club spokesman.

Yankees 2, White Sox 1

Doc Ellis won his sixth straight game and 10th over-all this season with relief help from Sparky Lyle as the Yankees whipped Chicago. Lyle relieved Ellis, 10-4, in the eighth inning and gained his 17th save of the season.

Brewers 7, Rangers 2

Hank Aaron drove in three runs with his 753rd homer and a two-run double, powering Milwaukee over Texas. Bernie Carbo knocked in the go-ahead run with a fourth-inning single, while winner Ed Rodriguez, 2-5, checked the Rangers on four hits in seven innings of relief.

A's 2, Indians 1

Mike Torrez pitched a fivehitter as Oakland edged Cleveland. Torrez, 8-9, won his second game in a row after failing to win during the entire month of June. It was his sixth consecutive victory over Cleveland in a string that goes back to 1974.

Orioles 4, Angels 3

Lee May's three-run homer in the third inning, the first by a Baltimore player this month, propelled the Orioles over California. May's shot into the left field seats, his 14th of the campaign, followed a single by Bobby Grich and an error and enabled lefthander Rudy May to even his record at 6-6.

Amphetamine Use Widespread In NFL?

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Dr. Lee Johnson, chairman of the recreation department at the University of California at San Diego, was on the podium talking treason.

He was saying that more than 50 per cent of the players in the National Football League who took part in a survey he conducted acknowledged that they had used a drug called speed to improve their performance on the field. Eighty per cent of those players planned to keep on taking the drugs.

"The fans don't know it, but half the players on the field could be taking amphetamines," Johnson said.

Dancing Party Wins Scioto Downs Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dancing Party won the featured ninth race, a one mile trot, Friday night at Scioto Downs harness track, covering the distance in 2:01 flat.

He paid $3.20, $2.60, and $2.20. High Mark was worth $3.20 and $2.60 to place, while Our Cola finished third and returned $2.80.

A 44 daily double combination of Come On Up and Hi Billie B paid $124.60.

The crowd totaled 6,890 and $388,019 was wagered at the mutual windows.

Pitcher Mike Cuellar of the Baltimore Orioles broke in with Cincinnati in 1959.

Weiskopf, Miller Pressing In Open

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Tom Weiskopf and Johnny Miller are among those who make sure there never is a dull moment on the pro golf tour.

The British Open on Royal Birkdale's 7,001-yard, par-72 course has been no exception. Both never are at a loss for words when questioned about touchy subjects such as Weiskopf's well-publicized "temperament" or Miller's lack of major titles.

"If golf didn't have players like me it would be a very dreary sport," said Weiskopf, taking time out to admonish the press for its treatment of his "temper."

"It's like tennis and Ilie Nastase. That's me, that's my personality."

Miller, on the other hand, treats the press in much softer tones, although he does not care for the constant comparisons between himself and Jack Nicklaus, and particularly the difference in the number of major titles the two have won—Nicklaus 14, Miller 1.

Miller, also not bashful about expressing an opinion, disagrees with most other golfers who say they would rather win one major title than 10 tour events.

Miller just wants to win, and he certainly had placed himself in good position to do that as he entered the final round of play today in second place, two strokes back of surprise leader Severiano Ballesteros of Spain.

Miller has won 17 titles since starting on the tour in 1970, but the U.S. Open in 1973 is his only major.

Miller started Friday's third round two strokes behind Ballesteros. He forged into a two-stroke lead after nine holes, but then fell back as the young Spaniard refused to bow to the pressure that was expected to befall a 19-year-old playing for the first time in a major tournament. Ballesteros eagled the last hole for a final 73 and a 211 score. Miller, also in at 73, had 213.

Only Tom Horton of Britain joined them under par at 215, but still in contention were golfers like Nicklaus and fellow American Ray Floyd, at 216, and Tom Kite at 217.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Stellar influences more auspicious than they may seem at first. Be consistent in effort and not timid about advancing new ideas or plans, and all should go well.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A fine day for artistic and social interests. In all things, capitalize on your genius and know-how.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury influences stimulate your ingenuity, quick wit and perceptiveness. You should give a fine performance. DO — because others are depending on you.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): An excellent period for personal betterment, social affairs and long-range planning. Shun a tendency to "keep up with the Joneses," however.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You are due for a unique surprise now, or soon, unless you work at odds with congenial influences. Wrap up duties without delay; save time for rest and relaxation.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Favorable influences. Be eager to improve all situations, particularly in "small" details, so often overlooked or considered unimportant.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Splendid influences! Especially favored:

creativity, originality. An excellent period for making new friends, cementing old ties.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Planetary aspects suggest that you train thoughts along constructive lines as you move discreetly. Penetrate below the surface to learn the full truth in all situations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Care needed in experimentation, hastily contrived messages and writing; also transportation. Reason things out to a logical conclusion, then initiate appropriate measures.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Take constructive action on a project you may have had in mind for some time. With good planning, you should be able to put it over now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Good stellar influences govern new projects as well as everyday routine. Cooperate with those who have both know-how and integrity. An excellent day for doing well.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Not everything will go as you planned now, but remain steadfast. Your keen mind and innate common sense should see you through — and well.

YOU BORN TODAY have — unlike most persons born under your sign — an extremely outgoing nature and love of the limelight.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sharply higher prices for steel and gasoline pushed wholesale prices up four-tenths of a per cent in June, the government said today.

The increase compared with a rise of three-tenths of a per cent in May and was in line with relatively modest inflation rates so far this year at both the wholesale and retail level.

Farm and food price increases slowed last month but an acceleration in industrial prices, led by steel and gasoline, was largely responsible for the over-all wholesale price increase, the Labor Department said.

Wholesale Prices Spurt During June

Fears of a new outburst of inflation were expressed by many economists after an eight-tenths of a per cent jump in wholesale prices in April, the biggest rise in six months. But the slowdown in May and June is expected to help dampen those fears.

The Ford administration forecast an inflation rate of about 6 per cent this year, high by historical standards but down from the 7 per cent rate in 1975 and far below the near record 12.2 per cent increase in 1974.

In June, the wholesale price index stood at 183.1, meaning it cost $183.10 to buy the same goods that sold for $100 in the 1967 base period.

Industrial prices rose five-tenths of a per cent last month with metal and fuel products accounting for more than half the increase, the government said.

Gasoline prices were up 3.7 per cent while metal products rose 1.1 per cent, largely as the result of previously announced increases in certain steel mill products.

Farm prices, which rose sharply in April and May, slowed to an increase of three-tenths of a per cent in June. Prices declined for fresh and dried fruits and vegetables, livestock, plant and animal fibers and milk.

Processed foods and feeds rose four-tenths of a per cent in June, following increases of 1.9 per cent in April and 1.3 per cent in May.

Sharp increases in prices for manufactured animal feeds were offset by lower prices for sugar and confectionary.
